

A method of forming carrier web having discrete lengths of mating zipper profile thereon. The zipper profile is fed from a supply roll to overlies a carrier web, tacked to the web and then severed from its supply roll.

[illegible]